

A new and unique course for 2019

PROFITABLE COMPOSITES

Dr Jason Smithson

OVERVIEW

Jason Smithson is simply one of the best teachers of composite resin in the world. As a high-street, practicing dentist, he is able to empathise with the pressures in modern day practice.

Therefore, he teaches in a way that offers each delegate, many hints and tips on how to transfer their new skills into their everyday dental office.

Delegates will listen to the theory, in a relaxed informal lecture style, then move onto the extensive hands-on sessions, where time will be given to practice the new techniques learned, in a step-by-step approach.

This 5* course is not to be missed and will undoubtedly sell-out, so early booking is recommended.

Jason Smithson

BDS DipRestDent RCS (Eng)

Jason qualified at the Royal London Hospital in 1995, achieving a number of awards as a reflection of his exceptional clinical skills. He has published widely in International journals and is only the second UK dentist to have had an article accepted by the AACD journal; The Journal of Cosmetic Dentistry.

Jason's specific interest is in direct composite resin artistry and minimally invasive all ceramic restorations and he has presented and given hands-on programs locally, nationally and internationally. Whenever he travels, Jason always receives great acclaim as his courses offer the general practitioner "real tips" on how to improve their dentistry and offer better patient care in everyday general practice.

Jason has achieved Diplomat Status in Restorative Dentistry from the Royal College of Surgeons (England). He maintains a private dental office in Cornwall.

Day 1

Lecture and Hands-on Exercises

The posterior lecture will cover isolation, cavity design, morphology and function, as well as placement techniques that will help avoid any future post-operative sensitivity issues. By using simple composite placement techniques, clinicians can learn how to save finishing time. By learning and reconstructing the morphology of the natural tooth, finishing and polishing will be kept to an absolute minimum. Delegates will impress themselves with their newly learned skills.

Exercises will consist of a Class I and a more complex Class II cavity, utilising sectional matrices to ensure tight contact points are achieved. Jason will take the participants through a step-by-step approach in which they copy his every step. At the end of the day, each delegate will have the confidence to use these techniques and reproduce composite restorations to an increasingly high level.

Day 2

Lecture and Hands-on Exercises

The lecture will cover cavity design, shade taking, morphology, composite placement and polishing techniques. The use of composite opaque shades is vital in increasing the aesthetic outcome for the patient and this will be covered throughout the day with the hands-on exercises being designed to practice these techniques. Everything discussed and practiced throughout the day will help towards reproducible and consistent results in everyday practice.

Exercises will be conducted by following Dr Smithson in a step-by-step approach. They will include an everyday Class IV restoration, as well as a more advanced Class IV incorporating tints and effect shades, which will allow the clinician to colour-match each case that is presented in the future. Time will be also given to customised polishing techniques that can change the appearance of the final restoration.

“ Jason’s course on aesthetic composites was excellent. I have attended many such courses but this was the one that has moved my aesthetic composites on the most significantly! ”

Dr Andy Wallace, Bachelors Walk Dental Surgery, Belfast

“ This is a real must-do-course! – well organised and expertly run. ”

Dr Alan Hirschowitz BDS-Wits, Garston Lodge Dental Practice, Watford

“ A great lesson on recreating anatomy. Ideal for young dentists and experienced clinicians alike! ”
